“How to Help a Sexual Assault Survivor: What Men Can Do” (Includes a FREE copy of the “Police Rape Training Video”)

DVD—$150.00

This video is a performance of the highly-researched “Men’s Program” by experienced peer educators. Men who watch this film will learn what rape is, what it might feel like, what women experience before, during, and after being raped, how to help women recover from the rape experience, what they can do to modify their own in their intimate encounters, and how to confront their peers when necessary. Though provoking and provocative, this video is great for use with fraternities, sports teams, men’s residence halls, military units, high schools, community organizations, or any group of men who want to learn to help women recover from rape. Women who present to men who want to represent a male perspective will find it useful to show and then take questions or discuss other material. It has also been of great use in training sexual assault peer educators and getting peer education programs off the ground!

“Police Rape Training Video:

First available from One in Four, Inc. in 2000, this powerful video is a presentation of a police officer talking to new officers about how to handle rape cases. In doing so, Sgt. Ramon shares the story of a male police officer who went about his everyday business and was raped by two men. Afterward, other officers did not believe it had happened as he said it did, could not understand why he did not fight back, and blamed him for what happened. The raped officer struggled with many aspects of rape trauma syndrome. This video is of particular use for helping men understand what it might feel like to be raped and is necessary for use as part of “The Men’s Program.” Great for Universities, the Military and community outreach organizations.
